

Wisconsin Menominee Casino Selects Surveillance System From Synectic Systems

“The new digital system from Synectics has increased our capabilities of ensuring our assets are well protected with complete accountability to the NIGC, the State of Wisconsin and our own Menominee Gaming Commission.”

November 2008

Synectic Systems, Inc. (Synectics), global manufacturer of enterprise-class digital video recording and award-winning command and control software products, has been selected by the Menominee Tribe of Keshena, Wisconsin to provide a digital recording surveillance system for its newly expanded Menominee Casino, Bingo and Hotel. An $80 million renovation of the casino complex was initiated in the third quarter of 2008 with plans to expand the existing 33,000 square-foot of casino and hotel space with a new pool, restaurant and convention center. The expansion includes adding 230 new slot machines bringing the total number of slots to over 1,000.

Synectics' enterprise-class surveillance solution will monitor and record approximately 400 cameras with the capacity to accommodate an anticipated 1,000 cameras in the future. The system will also simultaneously control a Pelco Matrix switch and includes point of sale integration. Motion picture quality video, superior fail over and redundancy, and system scalability were the primary reasons for Menominee's decision to choose Synectics over other systems that were evaluated through on-site demos. A driving factor was also its powerful and user-friendly video management software Synergy™. With its comprehensive incident reporting features, sophisticated data analysis, and quick access to recorded images, Synergy™ is designed to be very easy to use and maintain.

James L. Reiter, general manager for Menominee Casino, Bingo and Hotel comments, “The new digital system from Synectics has increased our capabilities of ensuring our assets are well protected with complete accountability to the NIGC, the State of Wisconsin and our own Menominee Gaming Commission. It has made us technologically advanced to the point that we cannot wait for the additional technology to secure our new casino resort expansion that will be completed in the near future.”
